

Lightning Strikes the Dressing Room [1]

May 6, 2019 Featured Poetry [2]
Disabled Poets Take on... [3]

Poetry by Michael Morell

Lightning Strikes the Dressing Room

I grab a pair of pants, try them on and finger the waistband for give.
I'm a fish flopping on a cold, hard floor,
the Incredible Mr. Limpet who can't find his feet.

The pants fit and don't fit.

Lightning Strikes the Dressing Room

Published on Talking Writing (<https://talkingwriting.com>)

I buy them, but they are not yet mine
until I do my thing, go to the place
I call home, take a tape measure and old medicine bottle full of pins

then make my worldly mark.
Half the material will soon be cut away.
Imagine buying a bottle of beer and dumping half out. It makes me shudder.

I picture the seamstress stifling a smile
when she sees me entering the store.
I'm her sugar daddy. The dwarf.

Three pair of pants. Forty dollars. See you Thursday.

Art Information

- Untitled painting [4] © Mario Loprete; used by permission.

Michael Morell is a poet and nature photographer born and raised in the suburbs of Philadelphia. He is the author of the poetry chapbook On Fire, and was the founder and publisher of the poetry journal Sea Change. Michael's writing has appeared in numerous international journals, including Paterson Literary Review and Rattle. In 2017, he earned a master's degree in Applied Meditation Studies from the Won Institute of Graduate Studies.

Source URL: <https://talkingwriting.com/lightning-strikes-dressing-room>

Links:

[1] <https://talkingwriting.com/lightning-strikes-dressing-room>

Lightning Strikes the Dressing Room

Published on Talking Writing (<https://talkingwriting.com>)

[2] <https://talkingwriting.com/talkingwriting-categories/featured-poetry>

[3] <https://talkingwriting.com/tw-channels-and-categories/disabled-poets-take>

[4] https://www.instagram.com/p/BcDZ8bjD_xm/